

4 Dead, 12 Injured in Auto Accidents; 2 Syracusans Drown

Second Hurt In Jamesville Crash Dies

Siegfried Eck, 41, and Kelvin McClosky, 8, Hit at Crossing Oneida Lake Combed Frank W. Koegel and Frank Fullmer Drown as Boat Upsets

Automobile accidents and drownings accounted for six deaths and injuries to a dozen in the Syracuse area, over the week-end.

Frank Fullmer, 49, of 168 Culbert Street, and Frank W. Koegel, 41, of 517 Seventh North Street, drowned when their fishing boat capsized in Oneida Lake.

Kelvin McClosky, 8, and Siegfried Eck, 41, of Jamesville, Byron A. Weaver, 46, of Cazenovia, and Edward Edwards, 42, of East Syracuse, died of injuries received in automobile accidents.

Searchers, using grappling hooks today renewed the search for the bodies of Fullmer and Koegel, who sank in 50 feet of water 1,000 feet west of Frenchman's Island at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The lake was rough and it is supposed their boat was swamped by a wave.

Two other fishing boats were within halting distance, one about 200 feet away and the other 500 feet. Occupants of both boats heard cries for help and hurried to the rescue, but both men sank before aid could reach them.

Fullmer, who made his home with his brother-in-law, Frederick Kuhl, was an enthusiastic fisherman and went to South Bay nearly every week-end. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Catherine Fullmer, three brothers, George, John and Jacob, and a sister, Mrs. Grace Klee, all of Syracuse.

Koegel was a World War veteran, having served 22 months overseas as a corporal in the 514th Engineers.

Surviving are four brothers, John, 633 Lemona Avenue, August R., 602 Second North Street, Raymond E., 517 Seventh North Street, and Christian, 409 Lemona Avenue; five sisters, Mrs. Peter Ferreris, 403 Helen Street; Mrs. Margaret Mertens, 159 Culbert Street; Mrs. Fred J. Allen, 324 Malverne Drive; Mrs. Henry Voss, 331 Warham Street, and Mrs. Gerald Davies, 103 Merz Avenue.

The boat which was killed when it was "pushed" locomotive, on a branch line of the D. L. & W., which runs near the McClosky farm, struck the machine in which he was riding at a private crossing. Eck, driver of the machine and employed at the McClosky farm, suffered a broken back and other injuries. He died in Crouse-Ingers Hospital at 6:45 o'clock this morning. The machine was dragged 30 feet by the locomotive.

The boy is survived by his mother, Mrs. Catherine Cook McClosky. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be at Jamesville.

Mr. Eck is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Saxe Eck, and two sons, Vermer P. and Robert O. Eck of Jamesville. The funeral will take place from the undertaking rooms of Burns & Cayser at 2 o'clock (E.S.T.) Thursday afternoon, and burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Weaver died in the hospital of the Good Shepherd yesterday morning three hours after he had been crushed in an automobile collision in Cazenovia. According to Deputy Sheriff William Evans of Cazenovia, Weaver's car was struck as he backed it out of the private driveway at his home by a machine driven by Albert Sherman of Chicago.

Weaver leaves his wife, two sons, George R. of Cazenovia and Willis C. of Syracuse, and two daughters, Mrs. Francis Snow of Syracuse and Mrs. Edna May Weaver, at home. Funeral services will be conducted at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Hayes died in the house of the Good Samaritan at Watertown. The automobile in which he was riding skidded as it passed another car on the outskirts of this city Saturday afternoon and struck a pole. The car was driven by Emory Countyman of LaFargeville. His wife is dying and three others are injured.

An inquest is to be held either today or tomorrow by the district attorney's office at Watertown.

The funeral will be held at the home of Hayes' sister, Mrs. Marie Baird, 510 Madison Street, by Keegan & O'Connell, undertakers, this afternoon. The funeral will take place from there at 9 o'clock (E.S.T.) Wednesday morning, and a half hour later in St. Joseph (French) Church, where a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated. Burial will be in St. Agnes Cemetery.

Mr. Hayes was a veteran of the World War, and was a member of Company A, 321st Machine Gun Battalion, which saw active service in France. He was awarded the Victory Medal of the United States at the time of his honorable discharge. He participated in the battles of St. Mihiel, the Meuse, and the Argonne. He also received the New York State World War medal issued by the American Legion, of which he was a member.

Hayes was employed as a printer and is a member of Painters Union, Loc 51, surviving are his mother, Mrs. Annie Morrison, four brothers, Martin, William, George Hayes and Alfred Deert, and three sisters, the Misses Anna May Hayes, Helen Deseri and Mrs. Marie Baird.

Harry Godfrey, 28, of New York, who suffered a fractured skull in a three-car accident at Bennett's Corners on the Camillus-Elizabethtown Road Saturday, was believed to be near death today.

State Troopers today were holding Myron Sheppard of Cicero on a charge of reckless driving. Yesterday afternoon his car collided with that of Benjamin H. Reynolds of Red Creek. The accident occurred on Thompson Road. Sheppard's car, according to the troopers, forced the other into the ditch.

Troopers today were looking for a motorist who disappeared after an accident last night on the Cedarville-South Onondaga Road. After his car had forced another machine into the ditch, the troopers said, it proceeded

Self Control, Park Central Sermon Topic

True Freedom Is Said to Be Found in Self-Realization

True freedom is to be found in self-realization and not in spurious self-expression, the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrea Caver of New York City, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, declared in his sermon in Park Central Presbyterian Church yesterday morning.

"At no point does the present generation find itself further away from the past than in its attitude toward personal freedom," he said. "Modern youth takes an attitude of experiment toward much that we regard as fixed and obligatory. The prevalent emphasis nowadays is certainly not on moral compulsions. The word 'must' is one of the most unpopular words in the vocabulary of the day."

"In no field does the protest against what are regarded as constricting and crippling limitations of the past utter itself more loudly than in religion. Authoritative creeds, venerable traditions of the church, established moral conventions and other impressive dogmas are all facing the challenge of youthful Davids in the name of freedom."

The Rev. R. A. C. Foster, pastor of Peoples A. M. E. Zion Church, preaching the morning sermon in the same church, said in a "pusher" locomotive, on a branch line of the D. L. & W., which runs near the McClosky farm, struck the machine in which he was riding at a private crossing. Eck, driver of the machine and employed at the McClosky farm, suffered a broken back and other injuries. He died in Crouse-Ingers Hospital at 6:45 o'clock this morning. Boys at Play Injured by Bat and Club

James Carno and Alfred B. Alestia Accidentally Hurt

One's Skull Broken Taken to Hospital as Result of Blow From Golf Stick

Two boys were injured in the head while at play yesterday afternoon, one having been struck by a golf club in Schuler Park, and the other felled by a baseball bat in the street in front of his home. Both were reported as accidents.

James Carno, 11, of 328 Park Street, is the victim of the golf club. He suffered a fractured skull, X-ray pictures at the Hospital of the Good Shepherd disclosed. Members of his family insisted that he return home after the hospital examination and he is under treatment there today.

James was unable to remember who struck him and was under the impression that he had been hit by a baseball bat. All he could tell was that he was playing in the park when suddenly something struck him in the head. He fell unconscious.

The lad was taken to his home by a boy who did not give his name. The family summoned a physician and the lad later regained consciousness. He was then taken to the hospital for the X-ray examination. The attending physician said today that the boy probably would recover but that it was against his wishes that he returned home instead of remaining at the hospital.

Report of the accident was made to the police and Patrolman Fred Demuth, of Precinct 5, questioned a number of boys who were at play with James, all agreeing that the injury had been unintentionally inflicted.

The other boy injured is Alfred B. Alestia, 7, of 903 Willis Avenue. He was playing baseball with a number of other children of the neighborhood on the street in front of his home, when he was hit in the head by a bat wielded by one of his playmates. He suffered a minor bruise.

Patrolman John Porahne of Precinct 2 made an investigation and said that Alfred had been hit accidentally.

Edward C. Naumann, Native Syracusan, Succumbs at 64

Edward C. Naumann, 64, native of Syracuse and a resident of the North Side, died at 4:30 o'clock this morning at his home, 600 Turtie Street, after an illness of more than a year.

He was a veteran employee of H. A. Hoyt Company and the New Process Gear Company. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. John the Baptist Church.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Catherine Schilly, Mrs. Peter F. Grassman and Mrs. Margaret Donko; a brother, Frederick Oscar N. Naumann, and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral will be conducted at 8:30 o'clock (E. S. T.) Wednesday morning from the family home and a half hour later in St. John the Baptist Church, where Mrs. Charles P. Murphy, pastor, will celebrate a solemn high mass of requiem. Burial will be in Assumption Cemetery.

Quinn's Death Is Caused by Fall. Official Decides

Exclusive Dispatch to The Herald

Watertown, Aug. 25.—Injuries suffered in a fall caused the death of Edward Quinn, 53, of 309 Gifford Street, Syracuse, according to District Attorney M. F. Kinley, who made an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the sudden death of Quinn in the House of the Good Samaritan Saturday afternoon.

Investigation of the District Attorney revealed that Quinn, a painter, fell on Tuesday. He was taken to the Mercy Hospital suffering from a cut on his left temple, a dislocation of the right eye and a possible fracture of the skull.

He left the hospital Wednesday morning and returned to Catherine and resumed his work. He developed a fever and was sent to the hospital again Saturday afternoon. His body was brought to Syracuse yesterday by Meagher and Mooney. It is said that Quinn is survived by a brother and half-sister in Southampton, England.

Roger Wolf Kahn Stops at Amboy To Refuel Plane

Roger Wolf Kahn, son of the banker and a touring capitalist and aviation leader in his own right, surprised attendants at the Municipal Airport at Amboy yesterday when he landed in his large Bellanca.

Kahn was piloting the cabin plane and carried three passengers. They were headed for Chicago, Kahn's stamping grounds, from New York City and stopped only to refuel.

Gov. Fred Green of Michigan also stopped a short time at the local port Friday afternoon. It was revealed today. A mixup in records caused his visit here to be hidden until this morning.

Ident. W. E. Nicol was the governor's pilot in a Douglas, an army airplane. They said they were flying from Newark to Buffalo after getting fuel here.

Fred Taylor made a round trip from Watertown in a Stinson early this morning. C. R. Brookland flew an Aromarine into the airport yesterday. He was en route from Seaport, N. J., to Chicago.

Baby Slain, Body Thrown Into River

Murdered Infant Found in Moose Near McKeever Hamlet

Exclusive Dispatch to The Herald

Herkimer, Aug. 25.—The murder of a baby girl and the casting of its weighted body into the Moose River at McKeever has caused a sensation in that tiny hamlet.

The body was found by two McKeever boys, Victor Amell and Silas Magore, both 15, in a shallow eddy at the edge of the river. Around its neck a cord had been tightly wrapped to which a brick had been tied.

It is the belief of Cooney J. W. Graves of Herkimer County and State troopers that the body had been thrown into deep water and had been carried to shore by the current of the stream.

The boys reported their grisly discovery to the station agent of the village and he in turn notified Governor Graves. The coroner had the body taken to Old Forge where an autopsy and inquest were held. The inquest verdict was that the child had been strangled before it was thrown into the river. The body apparently had been in the river about a week.

The body of the baby, which apparently was only a few days old, was wrapped in a copy of the Syracuse Herald of August 7.

Man Burned Saving His 3 Children

Arthur Quinn's Quick Rescue Work Prevents Loss of Life

Quick rescue work on the part of a father in saving his three children and a maid in their home from a fire there yesterday morning prevented probable loss of life. The father, Arthur J. Quinn, of 430 Hubbell Avenue, was burned seriously in saving his children and is confined to Crouse-Ingers Hospital.

The fire started in the Quinn home after members of the family had gone to bed. It was discovered by John Nichols of 201 La Porte Avenue, who aroused the father.

Quinn got out of bed and ran through his home which was in flames, waking his children and carrying them, William, 6; Arthur, 4; and Buddy, 2, to safety on a screened sleeping porch. He also aroused the maid, Miss Anne James.

Members of the family stood helplessly on the porch until the arrival of firemen, who raised ladders to let them down. The father was the only one injured. Damage was estimated at $7,500, although the fire did not spread to another wing of the house, occupied by the family of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider. A fire wall prevented the remainder of the house from taking fire.
