Hill Student Rescues Girl From Oneida Lake

Identity of Young Lady Kept Secret

Donald DuBois Makes Rescue When Boat Capsizes

Unable to Swim Holds Companion Until Spencer Arrives With Boat

Donald DuBois, 216 Ostrum Avenue, yesterday afternoon rescued a young woman whose identity he refused to reveal, when the motorboat in which they were cruising upon Oneida Lake capsized.

DuBois, who is a student at the College of Agriculture of Syracuse University, clung to the capsized boat. He saw the girl appear near him.

"I can't swim!" she cried. DuBois swam to her side. He carried her to the boat and supported her in the water.

Carl Spencer, who occupies a cottage at South Bay, two years later brought the girl and DuBois to the shore.

DuBois, however, insisted upon returning and bringing the capsized boat to the shore.

DuBois, who is 25, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Willard C. DuBois. He has been occupying a cottage at South Bay with his parents.

Thomas Webb Egan, 83, of 636 Park Avenue, widely known in the old Fifth Ward by his association with fraternal, charitable and civic societies, died this morning at his home. He had been in poor health for several years, and was confined to his home for a year.

Mr. Egan was born in Brughree, County Limerick, Ireland, and came to America in 1884. Two years later he established his grocery business at Seymour and Niagara Streets, and continued actively in business until his retirement in 1910 on account of poor health.

He was the sole surviving founder of St. Lucy's parish, a trustee and treasurer of St. Agnes cemetery, and a member of St. Peter's Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, until his complete retirement several years ago.

Mr. Egan had 11 children, seven of whom survive him. They are Thomas W., Jr., lawyer, of Syracuse; Seymour J., naval architect; Boston; Mary; John M., State bank examiner; Martha E., and Agnes G., of Syracuse; Rose F., assistant professor at Smith College, and Madeline Alice Egan, of the Sacred Heart Order, Detroit.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 9 o'clock Monday morning, and at 9:30 at the Church of St. John the Evangelist. Burial will be in the family plot at St. Agnes cemetery.

TOURISTS STOP TO VISIT CAL

A trip to the Black Hills of the Dakota Territory, to be made with President Coolidge was one of the interesting incidents of an auto journey through the United States made by Henry Benschneider and family of Elkader, Iowa. The Benschneiders, heading eastward, camped in Kirk Park Thursday night and were impressed by features of the New York State.

The visit to the summer home of the Coolidge family, which consisted, after laborious effort, of greeting the nation's head with a handshake, appeared to be the most exciting experience of the travelers thus far.

Girls and Boys Have Gay Time at Field Day, Ball Game and Swimfest at Schiller Park

A gay festival from 1 o'clock until 7, took place yesterday at Schiller Park. It was what might be termed an amphibious carnival. It operated on land and water with equal ease.

The festival opened with a baseball game. Then came a swimfest. There were races and diving contests for the experts, and the others splashed around as they pleased. Following that came a track meet. Girls and boys of varying ages entered in the shoe races, horse races, relay races and other stunts contests which took place.

Tennis matches occupied the latter part of the afternoon after which the children ate a picnic supper on the grounds. In the evening a pageant, "The Growth of the Flower," took place.

An exhibition of work done by the children on the playground during the summer was on view all during the day. Among the articles were embroidered towels, dollies, cases for silver, mats, a buffet set, a luncheon set, stationery cases, felt flowers, lampshades of chiffon and lace, and scrapbook cases.

Prizes for the day's events were awarded as follows: Richard Egan and Charles De Groot, 50-yard dash; boys 13 and under; Ray Waldron, 50-yard dash for boys 10 and under; Frank Scarnal, 50-yard dash for boys 14 and over; Vera Seidenfus, fancy diving for girls; George Stoeker, fancy diving for boys of 10 and under.

In the track meet—Betty Steiner, Katherine Ludwig, Marion Vignette and Veronica Ludwig, girls relay race; Thomas Sheridan, Antonio Cerio, James Weinheimer and Hubert Schuch, boys relay race; Hubert Schuch and Antonio Cerio, three-legged race; Allan Ritz, oxford shoe race; Bill Neuberger, high shoe race; William Lederman, 50-yard dash for boys 13 and under; Thomas Sheridan, 50-yard dash for boys 15 and under; Allan Ritz, 75-yard dash; Richard Egan and Bobby Howard, wheelbarrow race.

In the relay race for girls of 11 and under Betty Steiner and Katherine Ludwig were tied. Three times they won the race and each time it was a tie, so first prize was awarded to both of them.

Mayor Hanna was the first speaker at the convention. He welcomed the delegates to the city and on behalf of the city presented Frank J. Harpner, secretary of Rochester State president, with the keys of the city.

Thomas J. Corcoran, president of the Trades Assembly, also spoke before the convention and outlined the apprentice training program being carried out in Syracuse.

Hope To End Row Over City Insurance

Expect Settlement of Blanket Policy Squabble Next Week

Settlement of the war over the blanket insurance proposal for city-owned motor vehicles will be attempted by the Board of Contract and Supply next week.

Mayor Hanna said that he expects an amicable adjustment of the problem at the session.

The blanket insurance idea originated with and was recommended by the insurance agents special committee named to investigate into the city's insurance plan.

The investigators argued that the new system would result in a saving to the taxpayers.

The committee's recommendations were accepted by the administration and the city advertised for bids.

The first proposals were rejected, but no action has been taken on the new set.

Since the contract was advertised for bids a number of insurance men have openly expressed dissatisfaction with the blanket insurance arrangement.

"I know there is opposition to the plan," Mayor Hanna said. "However, if it will effect a saving to the taxpayers, I will work for its inauguration."

Big Diamond Theft Joke

Anthony J. Valentine, the banker, played hide-and-seek with an eight and a half carat diamond ring in Federal Commissioner Rasey's office today.

Valentine, appearing as a bondsman in a case, drew the giant diamond "diamond" from his pocket and tossed it over to John Giminski, an expert on gems, for his inspection.

"All right," was Giminski's verdict. The ring passed around the courtroom and suddenly vanished.

Constable E. A. H. dominated the banker. The "trick" had vanished.

"It wasn't mine," he pleaded. "A fellow gave it to me to have it reset."

From one suspect to another the ring was chased, but the pursuit ended with a prominent man whose identity is withheld for he explained to the relieved banker it was "not a serious enough case to warrant calling Howard Hughes into it."

3 SYRACUSANS TAKEN IN AUTO, ALLEGED STOLEN

Three Syracuse youths, riding in an automobile owned by Chauncey Walters of Baldwinsville, were taken into custody by the Onondaga police yesterday. They will be returned to Baldwinsville, from where the car is reported by State Police to have been stolen.

The trio were arrested after they aroused the suspicions of a motorcycle patrolman. The youth, driving the car, gave his name as John Pienka of R. F. D. 4, North Syracuse and stated that his uncle, Mr. Walters, had allowed him to take the car to take two companions to Utica. His companions gave their names as Stanley Kawalski, 17, of 509 Richmond Avenue and Jack Kyrnoski, 17, of 253 Lakeview Avenue, Syracuse.

It was later learned that the owner of the machine is an undeveloped youth, but did not give him permission to take the machine.

Contractor Rushes Work On Reservoir

New Storage Center Will Hold 109,000,000 Gallons

The new west reservoir in West Genesee Street Road, now under construction, will increase the city water storage capacity approximately 109,000,000 gallons, city engineers announced today.

The increased storage will give the city a total of about 232,000,000 gallons, the existing reservoir holding 123,000,000 gallons and the two standpipes 8,000,000.

Nelson F. Pitts, city engineer, said work on the excavation and embankment construction on the new reservoir is proceeding ahead of schedule, made possible by the purchase of additional new equipment by John Young, the contractor.

He has had three steam shovels working on the job and several days ago two new ones were delivered and these are now in operation.

In addition, the contractor purchased a fleet of additional motor trucks to expedite operations.

Work on the new section of the third city water conduit is also going along at top speed, Robert Provo, the contractor, announcing today the completion of the laying of over three miles of the new seven-mile stretch.

The books were collected by Mr. Murray through a period of years and in various places in this country. Several of them are comparatively rare and all of them contain matters of interest to readers making a study of the question. The Mormon movement originated in Salt Lake City, just west of Syracuse, and from there spread westward to culminate in the Salt Lake City settlement.
