Highly Indisposed Man Charged in Assault
A Syracuse man has been charged with multiple weapons and drug charges after he allegedly fired a gun near a person’s home, according to police. The suspect, identified as Daniel Smith, 37, was arrested Monday night after an alleged incident at a residence in the city’s east side. Smith allegedly shot into the air, causing a disturbance and threatening the safety of other residents. Smith is due in court on Wednesday for an initial appearance.

Quick-Thinking Canine Pits the Bute On Escape from Camp Gabriels Prison

Officer Keith Baker was in shock when he heard the news. "I can't believe it," he said. "We were just about to arresting the suspect when he escaped." Baker and his partner, Officer Peter Tavani, were monitoring a search area near the prison when they saw a figure breaking into a nearby vehicle. Tavani ordered the suspect to stop, but the suspect did not comply and began running away. Tavani and Hillyard had visited Calhoun about two hours before the escape and had seen something suspicious. They decided to follow the suspect and, sure enough, they found him breaking into a car near the prison. He was apprehended without incident and is now in custody.
